'beyond the seasons'

Campbellsville University has grown in leaps and bounds over the last several years. Enrollment has increased 140 percent in the last nine years to 1,583.

However, the university has not forgotton its rich tradition and family background while continuing to expand.

Over the years, the university has accomplished "seasons of success" and, more recently, has gone through "seasons of change." But, even while becoming a university, the student community still values the closeness seen on campus.

The university looks "beyond the seasons" of success and change and into the friendships and memories that college life has forever given its students.

SGA welcomes old and new

by Rocky Doom

The 1997-98 year started off Aug. 24 as the Student Government Association (SGA), in conjunction with the Baptist Student Union (BSU), sponsored the annual Welcome Week and Freshman Week activities.

These activities are designed to go beyond the normal task of the first few weeks of school and encourage students to meet new people and get to know the incoming freshmen.

The events began as BSU hosted its annual Sunday Night Explosion after the picnic and ice cream social sponsored by SGA.

The remainder of the week was filled with more activities for students including the annual Welcome Back Dance, Freshman Friends Fling, BSU picnic at Green River Lake State Park, new student reception at the Betty Dobbins Heilman House (president's home) and an evening of paintball warfare. SGA also made a new addition to this list of activities called "Singled Out," which was based on MTV's dating game show.

Freshman Week began Sept. 1 and was sponsored by the senior class. Freshman Week included an outdoor movie night, a luau with karaoke, the new student auction and the annual Male Review Pageant.

SGA President Olivia Coleman seemed very pleased with the response to the year's activities.

"I was very glad to see all the participation," she said. "Everything was at ease and there were no problems."

Changes on campus create

by Lori Short

If you take a look around campus, you are very likely to see many changes taking place.

From new buildings to new additions and renovations, the campus is moving beyond the college look and starting to look more like a university.

Gosser Fine Arts Center, the Betty Dobbins Heilman House (the president's home), and the additions to the Dining Hall and the Science Building are only a few changes being made.

Along with the changes, there has been a growth in student body and, with more students, comes a more diverse style. However, many interesting trends can still be found on campus. Bell-bottoms, brightly colored hair and "Giga-pets" are a few examples of these trends.

Each change and trend make a difference to the campus, its diversity and its growth.

The campus of Campbellsville University is composed of many different people. Whether you are from Sao Paulo, Brazil, or Bowling Green, Kentucky, each person brings a spark that ignites the campus fire.

In this fire burns a warm and friendly atmosphere. In the lives of each student there is a sense of Christian community which is reflected in all aspects of campus life. From ball practice to studying on Stapp lawn, each person is part of the campus.

Fall...

The Passing Way

As brilliant crimson leaves fall from trees
We don't look back on our passing way
But face future, unknown paths
And leave the past in yesterday

Well-traveled, crooked, country paths
May be buried in blankedts of winter snow
But with perservance we can override
Terrific storms and nature's show

The storms that tear across the land
As winter jolts into spring
Parallel the torrents in our sould
At the problems life can bring

Yet pain and sorrow will pass away
Seasons change and life remains
We should take the best of life as we go
And never dream our dreams in vain.

Singers end latest season

The Campbellsville University Singers closed out their 1996-97 season with a home concert Friday night, Sept. 12 in the University Theater.

Juniors Kevin Bailey, Josh Bunch and Lee Kendrick; seniors Faith Cook, Carolyn Milburn and Natasha Scott, and 1997 graduate Tara Ford sang a swan song repertoire of 13 songs. They also performed two comedy skits and one theme interpretation.

The group also led the crowd in a few praise and worship songs throughout the night, accompanied on guitar by Cook's father.

"Seeing hearts respond to the message of Christ makes the hard work of ministry rewarding," Bunch said.

The Singers have seen professions of faith and rededications from youth and children at stops from one end of Kentucky to the other.

After giving up nearly an entire summer — and the biggest part of the last two semesters — the Singers say their sacrifices were to the gain of the kingdom of God.

"It's really neat when you allow God to work through you," Scott said. "Singing is a gift to him. When we realize that, the good stuff starts to happen."

A wet Heritage Day includes dedication of President's home

by Susan Wheeldon

Campbellsville University's new president's home was dedicated the Betty Dobbins Heilman House at the university's annual Heritage Day Sept. 17. Dr. E. Bruce Heilman, chancellor and former president of the University of Richmond and a 1948 alumnus of Campbellsville, spoke on "Capitalizing on Confidence for Our Time in History" in his address.

The house was named in honor of Heilman's wife, also a 1948 Campbellsville alumnus.

A ribbon cutting ceremony featured the Heilmans; Campbellsville University President Kenneth W. Winters; the Rev. John Chowning, chair of the board of trustees; Dr. Ralph Tesseneer, who led the trustees' building of the home; and Al Hardy, mayor pro tem of the City of Campbellsville.

Convocation is gathering time

by Susan Wheeldon

Convocation services moved from the Student Activities Center to the Powell Athletic Center this year because of growth on the campus.

Convocation is each Wednesday at 10 a.m. and is a requirement for graduation. The university hosts many different speakers and performances at these services for the students, faculty, staff and community.

At the first convocation, as is customary, President Kenneth W. Winters welcomed all students back to campus. Other speakers for the fall semester included Glenn Wooldridge from Galilean Children's Home, Max Appel of Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Dr. Floyd Price, president of the Kentucky Baptist Convention, and Professor Ludmilla Selezneva of Russia.

Convocation also includes celebrations such as Heritage Day, the Thanksgiving Service and Christmas Celebration. The Campus Revival featured the Rev. Thomas Hammond, who also spoke at convocation.

Homecoming celebrates 'A New Standard of Excellence'

by Jackie Geurin

"A New Standard of Excellence" was celebrated as alumni of Campbellsville College and Campbellsville University took part in the 1997 Homecoming festivities Oct. 17-18.

The Alumni Banquet, a traditional Friday night event, attracted a number of alumni and friends of the university. Bobby Himes, associate professor of history, was the featured speaker of the banquet. Himes said that the university was growing, reaching out and doing new things. He told the Campbellsville alumni to "think of this as our University. In higher education in Kentucky today, this is where it's happening."

Dr. Kenneth W. Winters, president of the university, said, "It is you, the alumni, who make us who we are."

The Golden Heritage Club and the classes of 1947, 1952, 1957, 1962, 1972 and 1987 observed their anniversary reunions. Their reunion activities included a fellowship in the Betty Dobbins Heilman House, the president's new home, the Alumni Banquet and a picnic.

Saturday's events began with the Homecoming Fest which provided funds for clubs and organizations with booths. Alumni, children and friends experienced the spirit and excitement of Homecoming 1997 with a variety of games, food, music, fun and fellowship.

Other attractions on Saturday morning included the Tiger Alumni baseball game, tethered hot air balloon rides, Cruise In Car Show featuring 50 cars, alumni art exhibit and various reunions and receptions.

The Alumni Collegiate Chorale kicked off the Homecoming football game by singing the national anthem.

The Tiger football team tasted sweet victory with a secure win over Cumberland College, 52-17.

Halftime of the game featured the crowning of the 1997 Homecoming queen after a performance by the Campbellsville University Tiger Marching Band. Lyndsay Mulhall was named queen, Kellie Williams took first runner-up and Jill Halligan was second runner-up. Faun Lobb was selected as the freshman attendant.

The Lexington Philharmonic gave a concert Saturday night followed by the Homecoming Dance in the Student Activities Center.

Tigers end season as conference champs

by Jackie Geurin

The 1997 Campbellsville University Tiger Football Team ended an impressive 7-3 season with one conference loss and Campbellsville's first ever Mid-South Conference Championship. Head Coach Ron Finley was named 1997 Mid-South Coach of the Year for the second consecutive year.

Campbellsville defeated Georgetown 38-21 for the conference championship. Campbellsville became the fourth Mid-South Conference member to represent the conference in the playoffs since 1987.

The Tiger offense gained a total of 3,045 yards this season. Sophomore Timmy Mays led the Tigers in rushing with 1,039 yards on 159 carries. Junior Joe Don Looney led the team with 1,098 yards passing.

The defense was led by Dan McGill and Hardesty. McGill recorded 101 total tackles and Hardesty laid out 8.5 sacks for the season.

Tigers clinch first-ever berth into NAIA playoffs

by Jackie Geurin

The 1997 Tiger Football Team won its first trip to the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) football championship by defeating Georgetown College for the 1997 Mid-South Conference Championship.

The 11th ranked Tigers met fifth-ranked Geneva in the first round of the playoffs in Beaver Falls, Penn., Nov. 22 and were defeated 34-14. Head coach Ron Finley was named Mid-South Coach of the Year for the second consecutive year.

Billy Troutman rushed for 96 yards, and Michael Blackburn and Dan McGill each had seven tackles for the Tiger defense in the Geneva game.

In the Mid-South Championship game, Georgetown led Campbellsville 21-17 after three quarters at Georgetown's Rawlings Stadium. The Fighting Tigers never gave in, and with three big plays in the fourth quarter, Campbellsville earned its trip to Beaver Falls.

On the first play of the final frame, quarterback Joe Don Looney connected with Eric Lookadoo for a 61-yard scoring play and a 24-21 lead. With 10:47 left in the game, Timmy Mays broke a 97-yard touchdown run, and 59 seconds later, Steve Jude returned an interception 25 yards to defeat Georgetown 38-21.

The Tigers' offense was led by Mays who rushed for a school record of 246 yards on 25 carries. Looney also led the offense 177 yards passing.

Brad Knight and Jude led the Tigers' defensive game. Knight recorded nine tackles and two sacks. Jude brought down six tackles, four assists and one interception for a touchdown. CU's special teams were also crucial to its win.

Winter...

Beyond the Seasons

I saw a lone man walking, slowly through the park
He sat there softly crying, as the sun was getting dark
I asked him why the sadness, if he wouldn't mind to share
He looked at me with wonder, then said do you really care

"Son my life is over, I have lived it oh so long
Now I know the changes of what could have not been wrong
Life is all but seasons and seasons love to change
Before I tell my story please do not think me strange.

Summer was the season that took me by surprise
Fall was the season that showed me no surprise
Winter is a blanket that can be wrapped with love
Spring is like a fighter who wants to push and shove

My summers were so hot and dry, with nothing there to hold Winters were my enemy, they seemed so wet and cold
Springtime made me wonder about this life we live
And Fall made me remember of all the love we give

Hold these seasons firmly for they are the key to you
Seasons are emotions that will tell you what to do
When you feel the seasons change and put you in their spell
Remember the one person whom you can always tell

The one who made these seasons is a wonder in his own
A man whose awesome power made bread from simple stone
Remember where you came from and what you're meant to be Remember that the seasons are God's crystal sea."

Dameron exchanges roles with Winters and experiences president's job

by Susan Wheeldon

If you were elected president for a day, what would you do? Senior Kelley Dameron found out Nov. 19 when she was chosen Student Foundation's "President for a Day."

As Dameron became the new president, usual president Dr. Kenneth W. Winters became Ken Winters who took the place of Dameron in her everyday activities.

Dameron said the day wasn't scheduled like ones from years past. More free time was scheduled so people could talk with her.

While Dameron was reviewing student suggestions, Winters' schedule was that of a student. Winters attended convocation, Dameron's classes, lunch, did room checks (as a resident assistant) and ended the day with a meeting with President Dameron.

'Children of A Lesser God'

by Kenda Shugart

This year's performance of "Children of a Lesser God" included both newcomers and veterans to the CU stage. The performance was directed by Russ Mobley, director of the theater, with assistance from Campbellsville University junior Sumer Hatfield. The play was Nov. 6-8.

"Children of a Lesser God" by Mark Medoff, is about James Leeds (played by Chris Streets), a speech therapist at a school for the deaf. He meets a young deaf girl named Sarah Norman (played by Kelli Corbin) who has been deaf from birth. They soon fall in love and marry. The couple must overcome a huge gap between their two worlds, her world of silence and his world of hearing.

Other cast members were Steven Bishop, Robyn Beck, Alex Parrish, Krista Perkins and Jennifer Edwards.

Mighty Fine Arts

by Leanne Quinlan

The Division of Fine Arts includes the music, theater and art departments. The division had an array of events occurring this year.

The additions to Gosser Fine Art Center include new rehearsal rooms, classrooms, five Wenger modular practice rooms and a 212-seat recital hall.

The music program itself has over nine different performing groups. The theater has stayed busy performing "Children of a Lesser God," "Cinderella," and "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dream Coat."

In the art area, students participated in the Green River Arts Festival Exhibit in November. The students traveled to the J. B. Speed Museum and Nashville, Tenn.

Experience creates a

Seasoned Jazz Ensemble

by Leanne Quinlan

"Experience is very beneficial to this year's Jazz Band," said Dr. Robert Gaddis, director.

The 23-member ensemble performed at six various high schools during their fall recruiting trip. Other performances during the week-long trip included convocation and a home concert.

Improvising is a skill the soloist must acquire, Gaddis said, and the jazz music is written to give the soloist freedom to express himself or herself. This makes each song unique to the band and audience, he said.

"From blowing bubbles to playing Dr. Gaddis' favorite song, Tiger Rag, this year's Jazz Ensemble blended together well, and we had a lot of fun," said Ginger Shely, ensemble member.

Youthfest '97 ministers to current, prospective students

by Kenda Shugart

Campbellsville University's Youthfest '97, sponsored by the Baptist Student Union, was a time of ministering to current students and prospective students.

Over 75 persons heard Plumlyne, made up of members from Campbellsville University, and Kevin Rice and the Forecast from Manchester, Ky., minister through their music. Jimmy Disney, youth minister at the First Baptist Church in Barbourville, Ky., and part-time BSU director at Union College, delivered the message for the service.

The event gave prospective students who attended Fall Preview Day and university students the chance to worship God and fellowship with others in Christ.

This year's fall revival sought to see Christians make deeper commitments to the Lord and see non-Christians give their lives to the Lord, said Ed Pavy, director of campus ministries.

"I was very pleased with the outcome of the revival," said Pavy. "Many decisions were made at the revival that changed many students."

The campus revival Nov. 17-19 was led by Joel Goddard, music director, and the Rev. Thomas Hammond, director of church evangelism for the North American Mission Board. Both of them are from the Atlanta, Ga., area.

In addition to ministering at the revival services and speaking at convocation, the two also spoke to several Monday and Tuesday classes in the Division of Christian Studies.

"Master of arts is on the fast track." Dr. John Hurtgen

by Leanne Quinlan

The Division of Christian Studies faculty worked hard this year. The Division of Christian Studies is adding a bachelor of arts in philosophy program and a master's program to its current Biblical and ministry studies.

"Programs demand people," Hurtgen said. These additions to the program will require more faculty in the Ph.D., pastoral and ministry area. This will have great impact on the future, he said.

The faculty and President Kenneth W. Winters are in full support of the Christian Studies additions.

Ready to serve the Lord

by Leanne Quinlan

With the student involvement in Baptist Student Union and the Division of Christian Studies, there are many opportunities to serve God in churches in the community. Many students are youth ministers, day care workers and preachers.

"Ministering in a local church has given me the opportunity to actually be a servant and not just learn about serving," said Heather MacInnes, a youth leader at Friendship Baptist Church.

Cecil Karrick visits as guest conductor after Concert Band receives new home

by George Allen

The Campbellsville University Concert Band returned from Christmas break to a new home in the new addition to the Gosser Fine Arts Center.

Among the guest conductors in the spring was Cecil Karrick during the group's April 27 concert.

The band is comprised of 62 members from 21 counties in Kentucky, five states and one foreign country. The band was under the direction of Dr. David McCullough, director of bands, and Boyd Rexroat, graduate assistant.

The band gave two concerts in the spring semester; the first March 12 in the University Theater, which included works of Caesar Giovannini, Rolf Rudin, Robert W. Smith, Gustav Holst and William Schuman. Conductors at the concert were McCullough and Rexroat as assistant. The band's spring concert was April 27 in Powell Athletic Center with works of Clifton Williams, Alfred Reed, L. Aime Maillart (trans. Clifford P. Barnes), Cecil Karrick and Stephen Melillo. The concert featured several guest conductors, Dr. J. Robert Gaddis, Floyd Farmer and Karrick, as well as McCullough and Rexroat.

Orchestra performs first complete classical symphony

by Susan Wheeldon

The Campbellsville University Orchestra performed its annual concert Dec. 8, 1997. Dr. Wesley Roberts led the orchestra, and Sumer Hatfield was the orchestra conductor.

For the first time, the orchestra performed its premiere complete classical symphony including pieces from Arcangelo Corelli, Armas Jarnefelt, Jean Sibelius and Franz Joseph Haydn.

Now in its second year, the orchestra is made up of about 25 students and members of the community who live as far away as an hour. They rehearsed every Thursday night to learn new music.

Clay Hill Memorial Forest is new Division of Science project

by Kenda Shugart

The Division of Science is headed by Dr. Franklin Cheatham and offers many programs for the students within the division. Programs include Sigma Zeta (a club mostly for upper division students) and the Math and Science Club.

The department also takes many research field trips throughout the year and offers internships for upper division students.

Along with the programs the division offers, Clay Hill Memorial Forest is an ongoing project of the Division of Science. "Dr. Gordo Weddle and Dr. Richar Kessler are doing an out standing job with the pro jects at the forest," sai Cheatham. Cheathan said Clay Hill will prove to b a "valuable resource to th division, university and th community."

Plans are under way t improve the existing buildin by adding more lab spac and classrooms. Since ther are over 220 students in th Division of Science, these ad vancements will be very ben eficial to the students and th faculty, Cheatham said.

Division of Business/ Economics strives to teach basic skills

by Kenda Shugart

The Division of Business and Economics includes the fields of business administration, office management, marketing/management and an area in accounting. Also, students in the division can become involved in several organizations including SIFE and Phi Beta Lambda. The division is headed by Dr. Phil Lee.

With over 300 students in the division, the staff has set many goals to accomplish to further meet the students' needs.

Since there has also been an increasing number of students enrolled through the dislocated workers program, the division is hoping to add more classes for the workers that will provide the basic skills they are seeking.

The division is studying the addition of more professors and increasing faculty percentage with doctorates. "We are looking at ways to update and expand our current programs," said Lee.

Soccer players receive honors

by Kristen Simmons

The Campbellsville University men's soccer season ended with an overall record of 5-12 and 2-4 in the Mid-South Conference.

Throughout the season, players from different teams were named Mid-South Conference "Player of the Week." During the week of Oct. 20, Kris Swift, a senior from Middletown, N.Y. was given this honor. The Tigers defeated Cumberland University 3-2, and Swift scored one goal and had one assist earning the honor.

The Tiger soccer team had many of its players to make the Mid-South All Conference teams. Making first team was Swift. Adam Harris, a freshman forward from Paris, Ky. made the All Conference second team. Joey Farmer, a junior from Paducah, Ky. and Shaun McMulkin, a senior from Bristol, England, were nominees for honorable mention.

Women's soccer team has top player

by Kristen Simmons

The Campbellsville University women's soccer team was honored as Erin Ducworth, who played the forward position on the team, was named Mid-South Conference Player of the Year for the 1997 season.

The team finished its season with an overall record of 3-9-1 and 2-5 in the Mid-South Conference.

Only being a freshman, Ducworth said that she felt like the team accepted her. "This year was a time for me to gain my confidence."

"This team was such a close team. Our chemistry was good on and off the playing field. Everybody had such a good relationship with each other," she said.

Ducworth, of Paris, Tenn., said her most memorable moment was when the team played at Cumberland University and won 6-1.

Many of the Lady Tigers on the team were named on the Academic All-Conference team. Rainey Johns was named First Team all-conference.

Future looks bright for volleyball team

by Dana O'Daniel

"Campbellsville University's Lady Tiger volleyball team's future looks bright, although they had a 'disappointing' season," said head coach Beauford Sanders.

The team finished 11-20, suffering a defeat to Lambuth University in the Mid-South Conference Tournament.

Six Lady Tigers were awarded Mid-South Conference honors. Four received honorable mention All Conference including Crissy Ernst, senior, Erin Martin, junior, Melanie Weilmuenster, senior, and Nicky Wilkerson, sophomore. Amy Fitzgerald, Sharon Ishmael and Weilmuenster were in the Academic All-Conference Team.

This year's team was led by three seniors, Sharon Ishmael, who was third in service points; Ashley Cook and Crissy Ernst, who was the leader in digs with 339.

Cross country has first Academic All-American

by Susan Wheeldon

Will Hodges made Academic All-American this season, the first cross country runner at Campbellsville University to receive this honor.

The Campbellsville University cross country team boasted its first Academic All-American in the history of the sport as Will Hodges received the honor. Also receiving honors were Kulana Masden and Jeremy Saltsman, who received All-Conference, and Barry McCubbin, Will Hodges, Sarah Fischer and Jackie Crowder, who received Academic All-Conference.

The cross country teams both had a year that showed their continued progress, according to Tom McDowell, head coach.

Some of the achievements of the teams included their best performance so far at region. At this meet, the men's team placed fourth. The men's team also won the Midway Invitational Oct. 4. The best women's performance of the year was a third place finish at the Berea Invitational Sept. 27.

This season the teams also traveled to Fort Campbell and ran in the Austin Peay Invitational where there were many NCAA teams. The men placed eighth in this meet, while the women placed ninth.

Both teams were made up predominately of Kentucky runners with only one senior each. The seniors this year were Brenda Dowell and Ryan McDowell.

Seasons...

Wind and Maple

As the wind slows, gales across the land
Bringing with it a change that is felt in the trees
That is whipped through the streets
And back up to where a mighty maple stands

A tree with eighty-two rings, and strong roots
A tree with scars and ridges, characterizing
Its stretch to the sky on the days that are calm
And its strong-rooted stand in the midst of the storms

As many that have passed before it, and gone
That have stood for a season in its shade
Or have stayed several seasons within its shadow
So has the maple grown, its shadow lengthened

So now it stands as a sentinel, eastward shade at dusk
Watching for new passers-by who would come for shade
And some who come back to remember their time there
The maple stands, shade and scars, winds of change.

Community and university work together

by Dana O'Daniel

Campbellsville University is a comprehensive institution offering undergraduate and graduate programs, stressing academic excellence in a Christian environment. The university prepares students to advance in their respective fields and to advance their society through Christian service and leadership.

The city of Campbellsville is a community that provides university students with a chance to meet and exceed the goals of the university. Persons from all businesses and service organizations go out of their way to support the university and its students in every way possible.

The university gives back to the community in several ways, to say "thank you." They often help with the less fortunate, give concerts, help out in local church youth groups and many other actvities.

The community and university together form a unique partnership that benefits all who are involved.

The fall 1997 semester was Solid Rock Cafe's second semester open, and it is still a common hangout on Thursday nights for Campbellsville University students. Solid Rock is open Thursday nights from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. for college students.

Solid Rock has a disc jockey who keeps the music rolling, couches to sit on, games and a food bar. On some nights, local Christian bands, such as Plumlyne, also play at Solid Rock.

Solid Rock is a club that is Christian based and exists to give middle schoolers up to college students somewhere to go and hang out. It is open Thursday through Saturday nights with each night set aside for middle, high school and college students.

Students earn money while learning

by George Allen

Many students from Campbellsville University get out into the real world and contribute to the community by working at area businesses. Students are employed by restaurants, grocery stores, clothing stores, video establishments and many other places.

The Campbellsville community knows that some students have to earn additional income in order to make it through school. The employers often arrange work schedules for students to fit their class schedules.

Students who work off campus have the opportunity to see new faces, make friends and learn more about the community in which they live while earning money. Students who work while attending school gain valuable hands-on experience, as well as a chance to use the knowledge learned in classes.

Gaddis and Coleman honored as Mr. and Ms. Campbellsville University

by Leanne Quinlan

Seniors John Gaddis and Olivia Coleman were chosen as Mr. and Ms. Campbellsville University on Honors and Awards Day April 29.

Gaddis said, "I was completely overwhelmed and honored." Gaddis, of Campbellsville, was very active on campus during his four years in activities including band, Student Ambassadors and serving as Health, Physical Education and Recreation Club president. His future plans include getting his master's degree and beginning work in cardiac rehabilitation.

Olivia Coleman, of Floyd County, was active in Student Foundation, Baptist Student Union and serving as Student Government Association president. Coleman will begin working as a programmer analyst in Cincinnati, Ohio.

"This award represents leadership, scholarship and fellowship of Campbellsville, and there were so many candidates that should have been honored," said Coleman.

Both students view each other as a leader and friend.

BSU grows in its ministries

by Marla Jo Tabor

The Baptist Student Union has continued to grow in its ministries this year. Throughout the year, BSU ministered in many ways to the university and to other areas.

At the beginning of the semester, BSU sponsored a picnic and ice cream social during Welcome Week to introduce the club to new students. BSU was involved in many different activites to spread the word of God. Weekly meetings open to all students were held, and BSU, during February, hosted its annual dinner theater which consisted of dinner and entertainment provided by members.

Members also participated in "Beach Reach" in Panama City Beach, Fla., during spring break to minister to people on the beaches and spread the word of God. "Beach Reach is an incredible ministry that approaches students in a way that shows God's love and that other people really do care for them," said Dave Walters, campus ministries intern.

In April, the Campbellsville University BSU attended the BSU Leadership Training Conference in Frankfort. Campbellsville University was represented by 25 summer missionaries and 1998-99 BSU council members. Twelve of CU's students were commisioned as missionaries. During the conference, Shane Garrison was elected state BSU president. Garrison is the first CU student to be elected as state president in 20 years. Garrison said, "This year's BSU was not just about the meetings, teams or activities, it was mainly about people meeting with the real God."

Fellowship of Christian Athletes

by Bobby Stamps

Fellowship of Christian Athletes is a club created to bring athletes of all sports together to share in fellowship and worship. Although the name implies it, FCA isn't just for athletes.

Everyone in the Campbellsville community is encouraged to attend. Meetings are held every Wednesday night, and activities include skits and testimonies. Often, guest speakers share their stories on the effect God has had on their lives.

Campus Women on Mission ministers to community

by Susan Wheeldon

Campus Women on Mission participated in several activities that helped many people this year. CWM is an active organization on our campus.

Campus Women on Mission is a missions-oriented group that strives to help minister to the needs of others. The group has about 15 active members and meets twice a month on Tuesday nights.

The group has been involved in many projects this year, including making prayer rocks for its Homecoming booth which won the award for "most outstanding booth." They served homemade desserts for the Baptist Student Union Christmas party, had a peppermint tree outside the BSU office with the names of missionaries to pray for, had a special prayer emphasis for the Week of Prayer for Home Missions, sent birthday cards to missionaries at the United States Air Force Academy, had a baby shower to collect gifts to take to the Infant Resource Project in Louisville and spent a Saturday at the Infant Resource Project moving boxes, cleaning, sorting baby clothes and shelving baby food.

FCM celebrates one year anniversary of partnership

by Susan Wheeldon

Fellowship for Christian Ministries/Campus Crusade for Christ has been able to move in the direction of their mission statement this year because of their partnership. The partnership with Campus Crusade for Christ was in its first full year with the mission statement of these organizations being to know Christ and to make Him known.

During the year, FCM/CCC was involved in many different activities. These activities include Infinity +3 meetings every Tuesday night, revival teams going out, Bible studies, helping organize the spring revival along with the Baptist Student Union and Fellowship of Christian Athletes and A World Vision 30 Hour Famine to raise money to help end world hunger.

The organization has grown in the last year from five members to around 20 members being involved this year. The hope FCM/CCC has is that growth occurs each year as they set out to share the love and gospel of Jesus Christ with the campus and world.

Academic Teams have rebuilding year

by Susan Wheeldon

This year's academic teams have had a rebuilding year with only four players returning.

The academic team at Campbellsville is a member of the Kentucky Collegiate Quick Recall League which sponsors approximately eight tournaments around the state each year. The first tournament of the year was at Campbellsville University with 13 schools participating.

Any school competing in a tournament is allowed to bring up to two teams, a Division I team that consists of juniors and seniors and a Division II team, limited to freshmen and sophomores.

The Division I team members are Jason Ash, Kevin Bailey, Sumer Hatfield, Bonnie Moore and Jason Ross. Members of the Division II team are Jeanette Ash, Cabral Balreira, Samantha Barnsfather, Naomi Rinehold and Katie Wallen.

SIFE moves beyond community and to surrounding areas

by Marla Jo Tabor

Students in Free Enterprise (SIFE) are continuing to grow in number and have moved beyond Taylor County to counties such as Adair County, Green County and Marion County. The membership has grown 67 percent since last year with approximately 230 members.

SIFE has started some new programs in the surrounding communities. Two of these are the Senior Citizen Fraud Alert which warns senior citizens about the scams and frauds out in the business world today. The club members are also trying to start Junior SIFE in high schools around the community by talking with different Future Business Leaders of America groups in surrounding schools.

SIFE is still involved in programs they started last year such as: Preparing Thanksgiving Meals for the Needy, Reality School, Bluegrass Residental and Support Services (B.R.A.S.S.) and The Etiquette School.

The SIFE team at Campbellsville University has accomplished so much in the past two years and hopes to continue growing and providing for its surrounding communities, according to Shawn Stevens, club president.

Members of Phi Beta Lambda place in state competition

by Susan Wheeldon

Phi Beta Lambda members competed in state competition while attending the annual Spring Leadership Conference March 26-28 at the Executive Inn West Hotel in Louisville. Members competing at the conference included: April Essex, who placed first in the state in Business Law; Shannon Mattingly, who placed second in Business Law; Angela Holmes and Molly Brennnan, who competed in Business Communication; Crystal Richerson, who competed in Human Resource Management; and Bonnie Stanbery, who competed in Management. In July, April Essex and Shannon Mattingly competed at the national level in Orlando, Fla.

Phi Beta Lambda welcomes anyone interested in business to join the organization and participate in community projects like Toys for Kids.

Sigma Tau Delta and English

by Susan Wheeldon

Students joining Sigma Tau Delta can belong to two clubs at Campbellsville — an English club open to all English majors and minors with no required GPA, and the Society of Scribblers, an active student creative writing organization with membership requirements.

The objectives of Sigma Tau Delta are to confer distinction for high achievement in English language and literature in undergraduate and graduate studies; provide cultural stimulation on the campus and promote interest in literature and the English language in the surrounding communities; foster the discipline of English in all aspects, including creative and critical writing; and promote fellowship among its members and exhibit a high standard of academic excellence.

Members of SWITCH receive a broad view

by Susan Wheeldon

This year Social Workers In Touch Can Help (SWITCH) tried to give the people going into the field of social work a broad view of the role that social workers in the surrounding counties play. The group looked at majors in social work such as health care, psychiatric settings and juvenile delinquency throughout the year.

"I like it (the club)," said Karen Clark, "because you meet different aspects of the social work community."

At Christmas, the club showed its support in trying to help the community by making gift baskets and having a clothing drive for people in need.

The officers of SWITCH are Jason Keith, president; Derek Durry, vice president; and Joanna Cowen, secretary/treasurer Darlene Eastridge is the club's adviser.

Psychology Club attends annual convention

by Susan Wheeldon

This year Campbellsville University's Psychology Club attended the annual convention of the Kentucky Psychological Association in November. This event took place in Louisville with six members of the Psychology Club and Dr. Royce Simpson in attendence.

For the first time, Campbellsville entered a team in the Psychology Quiz Bowl. The Tigers gained valuable experience by taking part in this competition, even though they were eliminated early on.

The advisors for the group were Dr. Royce Simpson and Dr. Susan Howell.

Campbellsville University has first Wind Ensemble

by Marla Jo Tabor

The Campbellsville University Wind Ensemble is new and is directed by Dr. David McCullough. The group is made up of 40 members, most of whom have auditioned. Most members are from the university, but there are also members who are a part of the music profession from local and surrounding communities, as well as a few outstanding high school musicians.

The ensemble is an elite performing group within the band program at Campbellsville University. The ensemble performs the most difficult literature in the wind band repertoire. Its April concert was called "Premiere Performance."

"Formation of the Wind Ensemble is a very important milestone here at the university for the band program, on a par with the foundation of the overall diversification of the program," said McCullough.

Changes made on Campus Times

Gives newspaper professional look

by Lori Short

A new editor, new staff and a new computerized layout system set the 1997-98 Campus Times apart from past years.

The new computerized layout (or pagination) system gave the Campus Times a more professional look.

Students working on staff this year were given the opportunity to travel to cover stories affecting the campus as well.

As a source of news and entertainment for the university community, the Campus Times published three issues during the year.

Connections completed

by Lori Short

Connections, the Division of Humanities' annual literary magazine, was published in April.

The layout and design of the magazine were done in house this year instead of being sent out to a commercial printer. The cover was designed by Rocky Doom and Leslie Couts.

Winners were chosen in the categories of poetry, short story, essay and art. The winners included: Bonnie Moore, first place in poetry; Rocky Doom, second place in poetry; Susan Wright, first place for short story; Amy Dailey, second place for short story; Leanne Quinlan, first place for essay; Jeanne Smith, second place for essay; Leslie Couts, first place for art; and Robby Hayden, second place for art.

Harlequins stay busy

by Dana O'Daniel

The Campbellsville University Harlequins stayed busy this year with a performance of the fall play Children of a Lesser God, a children's production of Cinderella, and the spring production of Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat.

Children of a Lesser God and Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat were both directed by Russ Mobley. Cinderella was directed by Scott Burress.

Alpha Rho Tau sponsors art shows

by Lori Short

As a liberal arts college, Campbellsville University takes pride in the area of fine arts. Alpha Rho Tau is one club that works to display the talent of the students.

During Homecoming, the art club had a student art show in which Chani Chartisathian and Brian Wigglesworth placed first for their entries, and Stacey LaRue Simpson and Lorri Cone placed second. Members also sponsored a Juried Art Show in April.

Fundraisers included a raffle for a painting by Tommy Clark, associate professor of art, and a pottery sale.

Officers include Christina Hicks, president; Stacey Simpson, vice president; and Chani Chartisathian, secretary/treasurer.

MENC sets standards for the future

by George Allen

The Music Educators National Conference is a professional organization for music teachers. The organization offers teachers an opportunity to attend conferences and conventions to keep abreast of changes and new techniques to help them in the classroom.

The Campbellsville University MENC is a student chapter. Members attend workshops, conferences and conventions, as well as help local music teachers and students prepare for All-District and All-State.

KEA-SP prepares future teachers for careers

by Dana L. O'Daniel

The Campbellsville University chapter of Kentucky Education Association-Student Program (KEA-SP) strives to prepare students for the future.

The group participated in activities such as Homework Elevates Learning Pride (HELP), a program for children who are at risk and who are tutored by KEA-SP members. Members also held workshops for parents.

Being a member in the KEA-SP group allows future teachers to have several benefits like allowing members to attend two free conferences a year, access to loans, insurance, credit cards and liability insurance for classrooms up to one million dollars.

"Each year working with this student program is challenging and keeps me very busy," said Lori Eubank, adviser "I try to prepare them for their professional future."

HPER prepares for the future

by Dana L. O'Daniel

The Campbellsville University Physical Education, Health, Exercise, Science Majors and Minors Club, HPER, provide students with an opportunity to learn more about the field they have chosen.

The club wants to allow students to be involved as professional students. It also familiarizes students with state and national organizations relating to their field.

By being involved in HPER, students can show that they are interested and dedicated to their chosen profession.

This year, HPER went to the regional convention, where students were allowed to choose which speakers and topics they wanted to hear.

Residence hall councils work together

by Dana L. O'Daniel

Campbellsville University residence hall councils are made of several different levels of authority. This includes officers, resident assistants and floor representatives who meet once a month.

Students direct all questions or problems to the appropriate council. They also handle the preliminary discipline action such as citations.

The University has made several new additions to campus housing. Broadway Hall is a new male residence hall, and Druien Hall houses upperclassman females.

Student Foundation raises money for scholarships

by Dana L. O'Daniel

The Campbellsville University Student Foundation had a busy year raising money for future student scholarships.

To raise the money for students, the group participated in various activities such as selling Tupperware and having a spring Phon-a-thon.

The Student Foundation made a contribution to the Kentucky Baptist Convention PARTNERSHIP 2000 with the help of Dr. Ken Winters.

Student Ambassadors become more involved

by Leanne Quinlan

"This year's Student Ambassadors were more involved in community service and on campus," said Max Wise, admissions counselor and Student Ambassador adviser.

Student Ambassadors are selected students who assist the Office of Admissions in recruiting prospective students. This includes Preview Days, Tiger Roundups, telemarketing and with summer early orientation and registration.

"Student Ambassadors are a great asset to the university," said Wise.

TV-4, Radio challenge students every day

by Billy Suratt

From running yards and yards of multi-pin coaxial cable to building sets and editing video tape, a new challenge awaits students every day at W04BP-TV Channel 4, the university's low-power television station.

Commonly known as TV-4, the .07 kilowatt station has been broadcasting at a frequency of 66 megahertz since September 1986 and is also carried on Comcast Cable channel 12 locally.

Campus Radio, the newest addition to broadcast services, has undergone a format change in its third season and made the jump to all Christian programming.

Republicans meet politicians

by Marla Jo Tabor

The Republican Club participated in several political activities throughout the year. Members went to the State College Republican Convention in Lexington where they elected new officers for the state level and met with politicians to discuss current campaign and political issues. In addition, members of the Republican Club attended the Taylor County Lincoln Dinner with local politicians and representatives of the Republican party in Taylor County and the surrounding community.

Future plans for the club include working with Bob Himes in the fall 1998 campaign and election to help promote the Republican party. Members plan to distribute bumper stickers and other promotional materials to voters throughout the area.

Carpenter's Apprentice joins PARTNERSHIP 2000 effort

by George Allen

Carpenter's Apprentice, a group of auditioned students and alumni, performed in churches and at other religious events throughout the year. In addition, the Campbellsville University group acted as an ambassador for PARTNERSHIP 2000, a joint effort between Kentucky's three Baptist colleges to raise $45 million for capital expenses and scholarship endowments during the next three years.

The group primarily performed contemporary religious works and added a new repertoire to its program this year.

Sigma Zeta continues civic activities

by Kenda Shugart

Sigma Zeta continues to be civic minded this year. They started the year out by sponsoring a two-mile stretch of Old Lebanon Road in front of Clay Hill Memorial Forest. They are also involved in general maintenance at Clay Hill.

Another topic at the top of Sigma Zeta's agenda this year was not only helping the community but to reach out and help other nations as well. The group collected unused medical supplies from local hospitals and doctors' offices and participated in the Supplies Overseas Program.

The officers are Sara Talley, president; Shannon Padgett, treasurer; Joe Ferguson, vice president; Kelley Dameron, secretary, and Angela Dockery, historian.

Dr. Richard Kessler was elected national Sigma Zeta president-elect.

Spring...

Come dance in the shade of the forest glade,
Where the lights and the shadows play,
The birds they sing and the trees they ring,
With the sunlight's golden ray.

Sing Hey! to the God of earth and sky,
To the Lord of field and stone.
To the One who gives our livelihood,
to the King who rules alone.

Come sing in the grass of the meadow sweet,
Where the doe and the buck do roam,
Where grows the daisy's bobbing head,
And the larks and the mice make their home.

Sing Hey! in the light of the fading day,
Sing Hey! with the stars at night,
Sing Hey! as the mighty river roars,
And the swans swoop gliding in flight.

Come laugh with the joy of a merry brook,
With a heart like snow set free,
Which melts from the peaks of the mighty heights,
And rolls tumbling down to the sea.

Sing Hey! to the beat of pounding hooves,
To the cadence of wings on air,
Sing Hey! to the Lamb, to the King of kings,
Sing Hey! to His kingdom fair.

Cinderella

by George Allen

A long-time favorite play for many, Cinderella, was this year's Campbellsville University Children's Play. According to Russ Mobley, director of theater, the Campbellsville Kiwanis Club served as the community sponsor for Cinderella, its sixth play to co-produce with the university's drama production staff.

Performed during the last week of February, the play was filled with scenes of laughter and child-like dreams. Each performance of Cinderella played before sold-out audiences, from infants to senior citizens, sharing in the moment when dreams come true.

Travis Ford era is off to a successful start

by Bobby Stamps

The 1997-98 basketball season marked the beginning of the Travis Ford era at Campbellsville. The former Kentucky Wildcat point guard brought the type of uptempo game to Campbellsville that Ford learned under Rick Pitino.

A new coaching staff, new players, injuries and illnesses led to a slow start for the Tigers. The second semester brought team continuity and the addition of key players that turned things around as the Tigers ended their season with several key wins. Included in that stretch was a road win over arch rival and number 1 ranked Georgetown. "Beating them on their floor was no small feat," said Ford.

"That win points out where our program is headed," said Ford. The Tigers will endure the loss of starters Boogie Lyles and forward Ricardo Curry. However, a strong returning nucleus and a stellar recruiting class have Ford and his Tigers aiming for a Mid-South Conference title — plus a run at the national championship, Ford style.

Lyles, Curry and juniors David Harrison and Johnson Isidore earned post season honors. Lyles and Harrison were named first team All Mid-South Conference and were named honorable mention All-Americans. Curry and Isidore were named honorable mention All-Conference.

Cheerleaders win Mid-South Cheerleading Conference

by Marla Jo Tabor

Campbellsville University's cheerleading squad began its season the first week in August at the University of Tennessee where they participated in cheerleading camp and worked on routines and new cheers for the season. This year's CU Tiger cheerleading squad "was more athletic overall, and it helped the team as a whole," said sophomore Heather Cunningham.

In March, the squad went to the Mid-South Cheerleading Championship. Out of seven other college squads, the CU Tiger cheerleaders received first place. Three of the Tiger cheeleaders were named All-Conference, including sophomore Heather Cunningham, freshman Sherry Grider and sophomore Jason Morris. Other Tiger cheerleaders receiving honors included sophomore Heather Cunnigham and junior/team captain Brandon Hazzard who were named Academic All- Conference.

The CU Tiger cheerleaders had an exciting, successful year and look forward to continuing their success in the future.

Lady Tigers are unstoppable in quest for championship

by Kenny Jude

Campbellsville University's Lady Tigers Basketball Team finished the regular season with a record of 22-7 and were 10-2 in Mid-South Conference action.

The Lady Tigers looked unstoppable as they clawed their way through to the championship game in which they defeated Lambuth University with ease 85-58.

Head coach Donna Wise, when asked about the team's play in the Mid-South Conference Tournament, said, "I will never forget and will always appreciate this team for all they gave and never letting up."

The team will be losing three high impact players. Senior Shannon Wathen was named to the Kodak All-American Team and also named second team NAIA All-American. She was also honored with the title of Mid-South Conference Player of the Year.

Senior Julie Jeffries was also named second team NAIA All-American. Senior Jenny Teater will not be returning to the team next fall. Her presence will be missed from beyond the three-point line as she led the Lady Tigers with 68 three-pointers on the season.

Wathen led the team in scoring in seven games and tied for the most points in one other game. She had the most rebounds in eight games and tied for most in one other game.

Jeffries led the team in scoring in nine games, and tied that accomplishment in three other games. She also led the team in rebounds in 17 games, and tied for that spot in three other games.

The team made its ninth consecutive trip to the NAIA National Tournament.

Lady Tigers have strong showing at Nationals

by Kenny Jude

The Lady Tigers made their ninth consecutive trip to the NAIA National Tournament by knocking off Lambuth University in the Mid-South Conference Championship game.

They defeated Lambuth 85-58 at the O. Wayne Rollins Center in Williamsburg, Ky.

In the first round of the NAIA National Tournament, the Lady Tigers faced LeTourneau University and were led to a 92-56 victory by Farrah Sullivan's 24 points and five steals and Julie Jeffries' 16 points and six rebounds.

The Lady Tigers advanced to the second round of the tournament to meet Oklahoma City University.

They got off to a sluggish start, only shooting 30 percent from the field in the first half, but still having a 32-29 lead to take to the locker room. The second half was a different story as the Lady Tigers shot nearly 50 percent.

The Lady Tigers were led by senior Shannon Wathen who posted 18 points and 11 rebounds in the 69-51 victory. Also scoring in double digits for the Lady Tigers were Sullivan with 14 points and Jeffries with 11 points for the game.

In the third round, the Lady Tigers had their work cut out for them facing the defending four-time National Champions from Southern Nazarene University. The Lady Tigers came out of the gate running, jumping out to a 39-37 lead at the half on nearly 60 percent shooting. But in the second half the tide would turn as Southern Nazarene outscored the Lady Tigers 35-28 handing them a 72-67 loss. The Lady Tigers were led by Jeffries with 18, Wathen with 16 and Sullivan with 12 in the losing effort.

The Lady Tigers will lose three very important members of this championship team. Wathen, a Kodak All-American, had 42 points and 22 rebounds; Jeffries had 45 points and 22 rebounds; and Jenny Teater, who had 13 points.

Golf team expands horizons

by Bobby Stamps

As the 1998 golf season began, Dr. Ted Taylor found himself twice as busy as in previous years. With the addition of women's golf at Campbellsville, Taylor was balancing two schedules as he took the reigns of the fledgling women's team in addition to coaching the men as he has done since 1996.

Despite having only four players, the women were competitive and laid the groundwork for a successful program in years to come.

The men entered the season with high expectations. Although the goal of a conference title was not met, the Tigers made good showings.

Despite the loss of seniors Danny Edelen and Bobby Thompson, the Tigers are eagerly awaiting the 1999 season, Taylor said.

Summer...

Beyond the Seasons

Winter's gone
Summer's on its way.
It's time to start
Another day.

As the days go by Time moves on
The future's coming
The past is gone.

Old friends leave
New friends come
With the setting of the moon
And the rising of the sun.

Each day we walk
That narrow path
We call our lives
And wonder where we're at

What have we done
Where will we go
What will happen
What's there to show?

God has made us friends
Only He knows the reason.
Let's live our lives together
And take them beyond the seasons.

The University Chorale and

by Dana L. O'Daniel

The Campbellsville University Chorale had a busy spring this year. The group went on an eight-day tour which took them to five states in the southeast.

The chorale traveled to Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Monroe, La.; Ft. Worth, Texas; and Paris and Nashville, Tenn. The group had only one day off to travel and sightsee.

Selections were played that represented different cultures from around the world. Ernani Aguiar's Salmo 150 added a taste of Brazil. The music of Africa was represented by O Sifuni Mungu. Other favorites performed included: Robert Hunter's I'm Gonna Sing; Camp Kirkland's All Hail the Power and William L. Dawson's Soon-Ah Will be Done.

The University Chorale is directed by Dr. Kenneth Martin, professor of music at Campbellsville University.

Joseph and his 'Dreamcoat' is a 'big success'

by Leslie Couts

"Could be famous. Could be a big success."

These words were sung at this year's theater department's performance of Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat. The musical was performed each evening April 23 - 25, with matinees on the afternoons of April 23 and 24.

Andrew Lloyd Webber and Tim Rice set the story of Joseph's life to music in 1972. Alumnus Billy Gregory played Joseph, while Veronica Duka, also a former student, narrated. Joseph is a teen-age boy who gets sold to Ishmaelites because his brothers are jealous of his new coat. His new coat is given to him by his father, Jacob, played by Tom Castillo. Joseph ends up being put in charge of Pharoah's palace. After several years of his father believing him dead, his brothers find him alive and doing well.

Songs and dancing were choreographed by Kelli Corbin. The production was directed by Russ Mobley with Robyn Beck serving as assistant director.

Concert Chorus presents Requiem

by Susan Wheeldon

The Concert Chorus presented its annual concert performing Requiem by Gabriel Fauré.

Director Dr. Cate Arroe, assistant professor of music, said, "Fauré's Requiem stands apart from other 19th century requiems in being non-operatic and in avoiding the terrors of the Last Judgement. Fauré intended his requiem to be intimate, peaceful and loving.

"His requiem comes as close, perhaps, as any of his mature compositions to transcending reality and expressing the inexpressible."

Accompanying Arroe on the organ was Nevalyn Price Moore, instructor in music. During the performance, there were three soloists: Sumer Hatfield, Ben Martin and Clay Smith, with 60 people singing in the concert. Smith sung an offertory piece in baritone. Hatfield performed Die Jesu in soprano and Martin presented the piece Libera Me in baritone. Arroe said, "The concert went very well."

Baseball finishes season strongly

by Kenny Jude

The Campbellsville University baseball team had a strong showing at the Mid-South Conference Tournament.

The Tigers finished second in the Mid-South Conference Tournament behind Cumberland University. The Tigers lost to Union College 6-2 in the first round, only to come back strong defeating Cumberland College 13-3, Lambuth University 4-1 and North Greenville College 5-1 in three consecutive games.

Sophomore Nick Berry was named Second Team All-Conference for the 1998 season. Berry led the team in many categories including a batting average of .366, 24 runs, 41 hits, an on-base average of .454 and 189 put outs.

"We struggled this season scoring runs and getting hits," said head coach Beauford Sanders. "The guys elevated their intensity and desire during the tournament and played great baseball."

The Tigers fell to Montreat College 10-8 in the first round of the Mid-South Regional Tournament in Elizabethton, Tenn. In the losers bracket Campbellsville lost to Indiana Southeast University 12-10 to end their run.

Campbellsville then traveled to South Bend, Ind. to compete in the National Christian College Athletic Association (NCCAA) National Tournament. They dropped their first game to Spring Arbor 5-4. In game two of the double elimination tournament, the Tigers downed Trinity International University 6-3 before losing to Indiana Wesleyan.

Lady Tiger Softball improves

by Bobby Stamps

The Lady Tiger softball team made a great improvement during the 1998 season as they posted a 17-19 record, including a 12-10 mark in the Mid-South Conference for a third-place finish.

The 1999 season looks even better for the Tigers. "We should dominate," said Coach Sarah Hillyer. Hillyer has good reason to be confident as First Team All-Conference selection Joni Fringer returns, along with each starter from the 1998 season. Adding to Hillyer's enthusiasm are nine recruits, including three pitchers. "So we should have some depth,"said Hillyer.

Post season accolades, in addition to Fringer, went to Rebecca Jo Pavy, Rachel Pavy, Justa Fojas, Tammy Hancock, Jessica Wade, Heather Nunn, Amy Pryor, Kelly Jo Townsend and Sindy Munson as they were named Honorable Mention All-Conference. Fojas, Nunn, Alison Foreman, Nicole Marlette and Jennifer Hayden were named Academic All-Conference.

Men's tennis team rebuilds

by Lori Short

"The 1998 season was one of rebuilding and growth," said W.D. McCubbin, the head coach for the men's and women's tennis teams, when referring to the men's tennis season.

The season was difficult for the team with three departures and the injury of its number one player.

McCubbin, because of his late acceptance of the coaching position, had to recruit team members from the student body. By the end of the season, things were looking up, according to McCubbin. "By the season's end, our team became competitive," said McCubbin.

"Additions next year will make our team exciting," he said.

Team member Andy Rocha, a sophomore from Brazil, said, "We had a young team with four freshmen. We used the season for experience."

Women's tennis team is competitive from the start

by Cheri M. Glass

The Campbellsville University women's tennis team was competitive from the beginning, even though it faced several challenges during the season.

Coach W.D. McCubbin is optimistic about the team and the success it will have in the 1999 season that lies ahead.

"Our number one player decided to redshirt due to an injury, but she will return to a squad that will add a state ranked and a previously nationally ranked Brazillian player," said McCubbin. "With our additions to the team, it should get us over the hump."

The women's tennis team played hard, but despite its efforts, lost some matches, McCubbin said. "We seemed to fall one point short on a consistent basis," he said.

One of the team's sweetest victories occurred the week of March 30 when the women defeated Union College 6-1.

On the rise, Tiger Sharks not resting on laurels

by Bobby Stamps

The Campbellsville University men's and women's swim teams enjoyed a successful 1997-98 season.

Team numbers rose, and the Tiger Sharks once again brought home a national title.

In the not-so-distant past, competing against the premiere swimming programs in the nation would have been a dream for Campbellsville. But the addition of Coach Dean Brownley helped improve the women from 21st to fourth in the nation. The men have gone from 25th to eighth in just three years.

For his team's accomplishments, Brownley was named 1997-98 NAIA National Coach of the Year. Brownley is Campbellsville University's first national Coach of the Year.

Tiger Sharks are outstanding at nationals

by Kenny Jude

Campbellsville University Tiger Shark Max Ivanov successfully defended Campbellsville's national title of a year ago.

Ivanov broke the school record with a time of 50.95 in the men's 100 butterfly which secured his national title. "I was very nervous but coach encouraged me and told me I had a very good chance," said Ivanov. "Something inside pushed me. I have been practicing for this my whole life, and it felt great to win it."

The men finished the meet in 15th place. Enrique Bocatto placed eighth in the 200 breaststroke and 13th in the 100 breaststroke.

Campbellsville's women also had their best showing ever, finishing 4th at the competition and breaking 11 out of 18 team records.

Joyce Brandao was the national runner-up in the 200 individual medley, third in the 100 butterfly and fourth in the 200 butterfly. Jill Halligan was sixth in the 100 butterfly and ninth in the 100 backstroke.

Kellie Lane placed fifth in the 100 backstroke and placed ninth in the mile, while Katie O'Brien was 13th and Stephanie McKone was 19th in the same event.

Campbellsville Head Coach Dean Brownley was named NAIA National Coach of the Year following the competition. "This is a fantastic honor," said Brownley.

Dr. Roy L. Honeycutt Jr., former president and chancellor of The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, spoke to our largest ever graduating class.

Honeycutt challenged the 211 graduates to "affirm your freedom, assume responsibility and acknowledge accountability."

"You are a free people as believers in Christ and as graduates," he said, urging the graduates to assume responsibility for one's context, conduct and consequences.

Honeycutt said that accountability to God is the most important, but we must be accountable to ourselves and society.

He quoted from a poem entitled Myself, as follows: "I have to live with myself, and so I want to be fit for myself to know, I want to be able, as days go by, always to look myself straight in the eye, I don't want to stand, with the setting sun, and hate myself for the things I've done."

Honeycutt, campaign co-chair of PARTNERSHIP 2000 (a cooperative effort to strengthen Kentucky's Baptist liberal arts colleges), was awarded an honorary doctorate of divinity degree.

The graduating class of 1998 received the following degrees: 24 master of arts in education, two master of music in music education, eight bachelor of arts, 142 bachelor of science, four bachelor of social work, 10 bachelor of music and 21 associate of science.

The class had three valedictorians, all with 4.0 grade point averages: Michelle Lynette Creason, Bridgette Renee' Dawson and Kathy Adams Taylor.

The salutatorian, with a 3.999 grade point average, was Briana Marie Johns Combs.

Dr. Robert S. Clark, vice president for academic affairs and dean, who is retiring June 30 after 32 years of service to the university, received a surprise honorary doctorate of humane letters.

"Carry the name of Campbellsville University boldly and with pride," said Dr. Kenneth W. Winters. "We depend on you for encouragement and want you to stay in touch with us and inform us of your progress."

Kelley Dameron Suchman, president of the senior class, urged the seniors to "open your eyes and see the world. It's up to us to figure it out."

"Open your eyes, see within yourself, find a purpose and be confident in fulfilling that purpose."

Joel Bennett, president of the Campbellsville University Alumni Association, welcomed the class into the ranks of alumni.

"Time allows us to build memories," he said, "and the people you've met here will last forever."

Dr. John East, father of graduate Johna East, gave the invocation.

Larry Noe, chair of the board of trustees, gave the benediction.

There is a time for everything, and a season for every activity under heaven:
a time to be born and a time to die, a time to plant and time to uproot, a time to kill and a time to heal,
a time to tear down and a time to build,
a time to weep and a time to laugh,
a time to mourn and a time to dance,
a time to scatter stones and a time to gather them,
a time to embrace and a time to refrain,
a time to search and a time to give up,
a time to keep and a time to throw away,
a time to tear and a time to mend,
a time to be silent and a time to speak,
a time to love and a time to hate,
a time for war and a time for peace.

A note from the editor

To the faculty, staff and students of Campbellsville University:

In trying to describe the 1998 yearbook, I can only think of one word...different. Much like the university itself, we have tried to broaden our horizons and make a book that would stand apart. Well, I believe the yearbook staff and I have succeeded in at least making the yearbook different.

From the beginning, this yearbook has been very special to me. Not only because of the changes made, but because it is, in a way, my first and last yearbook. This is the first time I have gotten to be this much a part of a yearbook from beginning to end, and I have to say the year flew by. The yearbook staff and I have experienced a lot this past year. From training new staff to agonizing over every little detail and every little change that was to be made, we have grown closer as co-workers and friends. I am very thankful for all the help of the staff. I am especially appreciative of the help of the advisers, Joan McKinney and Rebecca Colvin plus Cheri Glass, who has done a wonderful job learning the computer program and how to be an adviser. Next year I will no longer be yearbook editor; staff photographer Leslie Couts will be taking that position. I wish her the best of luck.

We, as the yearbook staff, have tried not to break tradition, but expand on and move beyond tradition to make a new and exciting book for you. The yearbook staff and I have worked hard and drained our creative juices to create this book and are very proud to give it to you. I hope that each of you enjoy this year's book.

Dr. Robert S. Clark retires after 32 years of service

by Joan C. McKinney

Dr. Robert S. Clark, vice president for academic affairs and dean, retired June 30 after 32 years of service at Campbellsville University.

Clark received an honorary doctorate degree of humane letters during commencement. Clark has spent over 40 years in Christian higher education. A reception and dinner were held in his honor.

Colophon

The 1998 Maple Trail was published by Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas, Texas. One thousand, one hundred and fifty copies of the Maple Trail, volume 70, were published. The 9 x 12-inch book contains 224 pages which include 15 full color and spot color pages.

The cover is lithocote material, with black matte applied. The design is a four-color process. The art work was submitted by Lori Short. The endsheets are school designed on rainbow birch stock with the design lithographed in black.

Body copy is 16-point Souvenir font; captions are 14-point Souvenir Italic font; photo credits are 10 point. Headlines are Souvenir Bold in 42 point except for dividers and other special pages that are designed for larger point or different type. Subheads are Souvenir 30 point. The publication was submitted to Taylor Publishing Company on disks using Taylor's UltraVision software.

Photographs were submitted by the photographers in the Office of Public Relations and Marketing, the "Central Kentucky News-Journal" staff, as well as faculty, staff and students from Campbellsville University. Class portraits were taken by Delmar Studios of Bardstown, Ky.

Two students, an editor and a photographer, were given performance grants for their work. The other writers, photographers and office assistants were work-study students, interns and volunteers who worked out of the Office of Public Relations and Marketing.

Student classifications were determined by records from the Office of Student Records. The Office of Computer Services provided assistance with network problems.

We thank the Taylor software support center in Dallas for helping us throughout the year with our questions and problems. We also appreciate the kindness and patience of Jerry Steely, our customer service representative at Taylor. We appreciate their help.

The Maple Trail is free to all full-time students. We appreciate Campbellsville University's financial commitment allowing us to offer this memory book free to the students.

Hugh Black, our yearbook representative and friend, is always available for guidance and support. We appreciate that support and help. Black and his wife, Carol, of Louisville, are special people, and we consider them part of our Maple Trail staff.
